

Certificate Program for Advanced Graduate Study in the Liberal Arts (CAGSLA)

Did you miss taking courses like "Beethoven and His Age," "Faulkner's Fiction," "The American West: Myth and Reality", or "Art of the Middle Ages"? Would you like to take dynamic new courses like "Religion and Politics in South Asia," "From Jerusalem to Graceland: Elvis and the Idea of the Holy," or "Putting Maryland on the Map"? If so, the Certificate Program for Advanced Graduate Study in Liberal Arts is right for you.

The CAGSLA allow students to:

- Take new courses or special courses from a favorite instructor.
- Engage in stimulating and dynamic discussions in the MLA seminars.
- Meet other students who are interested in learning about new things.
- Study with distinguished Hopkins faculty from departments and programs across the university and field specialists from the Maryland State Archives, the Walters Art Gallery, and others.
- Explore interdisciplinary topics and approaches.
- Cluster courses for professional development.

Designed for graduates of The Johns University Master of Liberal Arts Program (MLA) or graduates of comparable master's programs in the liberal arts or humanities, the CAGSLA is a ten course certificate program. Students select from a range of courses offered each semester. Courses can be clustered in particular thematic areas.

For more information, contact D. Melissa Hilbish, associate chair, MLA Program, at mhilbish@jhu.edu or 410-516-4640.

JOHNS HOPKINS University
Zanvyl Krieger School of Arts and Sciences
Advanced Academic Programs

1.800.847.3330 • www.jhu.edu/advanced/liberal_arts