

A Steering Committee Board governs the Johns Hopkins University Women's Network. It is composed of the officers of the organization and the chairs of the Campus Chapters. The Board meets quarterly throughout the year. Five campus chapters provide structure and organization for activities at the various University campuses. The Steering Committee Board members are contributing members of the University Committee on the Status of Women (formerly the Provost's Committee on the Status of Women).

