Featured Employer: ExxonMobil Corporation

ExxonMobil Corporation, a global Fortune 500, energy company, has a number of opportunities for summer interns in its domestic operations. The program is open for students who have completed at least their second year of college studies in a science, mathematics or engineering discipline. The programs have a flexible calendar start and end date to accommodate academic schedules. ExxonMobil expects that students will be willing to work for at least 8 continuous weeks in the summer of 2010.

Summer intern opportunities are in the following ExxonMobil organizations:

- Upstream Development
- Upstream Production
- Upstream Research
- Downstream Refining and Supply
- Downstream Research & Engineering
- Lubricants & Specialties
- Refining and Supply
- Chemicals Manufacturing
- Chemicals Research

Applicants should have at least an overall 3.2 GPA.

If you are interested in career opportunities with Exxon Mobil, please register at ExxonMobil.com – Careers and with the JHU Career Center (Job ID 13022 in J-Connect). ExxonMobil recruiters will be on the Johns Hopkins campus on October 28th for an information session and Oct. 29th for pre-selected campus interviews. THE DEADLINE FOR INTERVIEW CONSIDERATION IS MONDAY, OCTOBER 19.
