

Proteomics Mass Spectrometry Expert Needed

Booz Allen Hamilton, a leading consulting firm, has an immediate need for a Ph.D. scientist that is an expert in Proteomics Mass Spectrometry. The candidate will need to possess the following skills: Strong functional knowledge of chemical and biological sciences; Can support development of novel instrumentation for use in chemical and biological detection; Excellent oral and written communication skills; Can support prototype instrument development and determination of detection performance characteristics; Research experience in spectroscopic detection and microscopy of chemical and biological agents on surfaces, in aerosols and/or vapor phase. The open position will be located in Harford County, Maryland. Please send all resumes and direct all questions to Josh Cantor, 443-360-6348, cantor_Joshua@bah.com.